

LIVING HERITAGE COSMOGONY TIMES

EXPLORATION

CARTIER COSMOGONY OPEN FOR EXPLORATIONS

First travelers landed on the 15th of December

This week, Cartier Living Heritage Cosmogony (LHC) launched the open tests of the beta version with internal staff and selected partners including students from GenZ observatory and creatives. The testing phase will last until the end of January, hopefully, to get a wide range of users interacting with the Cosmogony, and test its scalability, performance, and reliability under real-world usage scenarios.

In this universe version, travellers could already choose their avatars, interact with each other, explore different islands, accomplish the Living Heritage quest, and potentially win the final reward.

While the final reward hasn't been revealed yet, we look forward to the first traveller who accomplishes the quest!

NEWS FROM TRAVELERS ♦ SEA OF TRINITY

A MESSAGE FROM THE PAST

Found in a Bottle Floating on the Sea of Trinity

On December 12th, a message in a bottle was caught by an explorer, who wishes to remain anonymous and generously shares his found with us:

"- Please give me the name of your florist, Madame, so that I can have your favorite flowers sent to you.
- It is Cartier, Sir. — Quoted in the daily newspaper Sud-Ouest, 1954."

Where will this message lead us to?

DISCOVERY ♦ UNKNOWN

A NEW ISLAND

Is Yet to be Discovered

Within the first batch of travellers, one mysterious island remained undiscovered.

Our reliable source within LHC has revealed that the clue to finding this island is to be released at the end of November.

Some say this is a land of creativity, where only the most resourceful and curious minds can reach.

EVENT ♦ F.O.E.S.

PHILOSOPHY WORKSHOP

The Perception of Time

The philosophy workshop The Perception of Time will take place in the Forest of Eternal Spring. It will bring together a community of artists, botanists and philosophers on January the 10th.

ART ♦ DEEP DIVE MUSEUM

FROM MEMORY

Drawing Maps of the Cosmogony

5 guest artists were invited to discover the Living Heritage Cosmogony, and to draw a map from memory. Discover the exhibition in the Deep Dive Museum (located underwater, access through central island).

ART 📍MOON

IN MARCH, FEMALE ARTIST TAKES OVER THE MOON

Live Art Performance by Fluxus Inspired Chinese Artist Kaixuan Feng

For this special occasion, during International Women's Day, the Island of Femininity will also welcome four young female artists from all over the world to propose events full of dynamic and one-of-a-kind experiences. Visual art, music, painting... They will experiment, play, and imagine across disciplines and media. An exhibition on jewels inspired by the myth of the moon will take place on that island at the same time.

TRAVEL TIPS 📍MOON

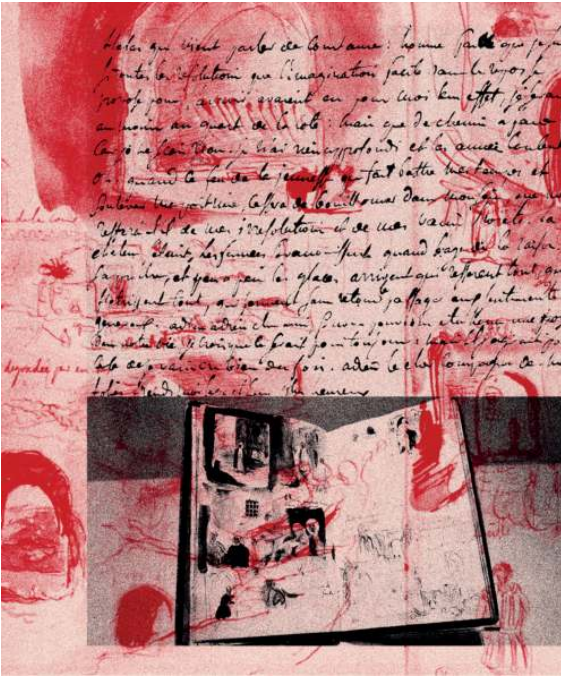

TRAVEL LOG RELEASE

For a Mindful Journey

The Cartier Living Heritage Cosmogony has released the first version of the travel log to accompany travelers.

Simply and mindfully, it can be used to establish a travel places wish list, estimated time of travel, and also document what they have seen, who they have encountered...

After the journey, they could comfortably enjoy reading through your notes and going through everything you collected during your journey.

TRAVEL TIPS 📍LIVING HERITAGE COSMOGONY

TRAVELER INSIGHTS

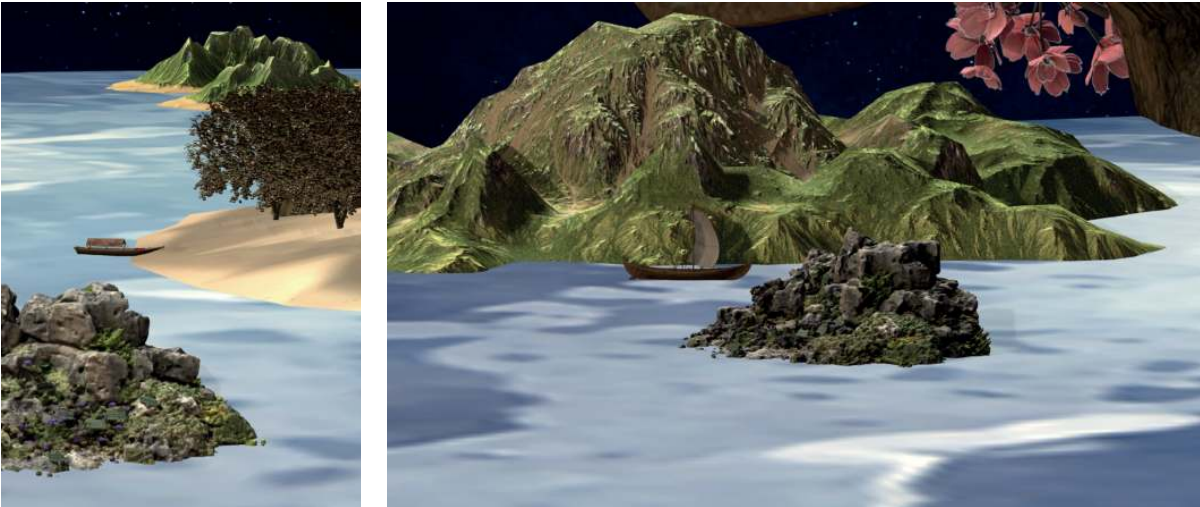

Top 3 places to explore anytime in the LHC

According to travelers, this month 3 places have been selected as "top destinations to discover" :

1 // Suirencha (水蓮茶, The Water Lotus Tea House): This Japanese tea house has been loved by all travelers for its aesthetic and interactions with the environment. Make sure to sign up for a tea ceremony in the upcoming week, engage with our tea master, and learn about the history of chashitsu.

2 // The Garden of Nefertum: Named after the egyptian god of artisans, this beautiful botanical garden is a perfect destination for strolls and discoveries with over 500 species of plants — as in the Primavera painting by Botticelli — some of which are inseparable from Cartier's artistic inclinations. A guided tour by Mathilde Laurent will be available very soon!

3 // The Golden Volcano: Named after an ancient indian writing on the quest for love, this volcano leads you on a spiritual path where you could potentially spot two sun falcons with some luck. It's also a path where interesting encounters with artisans might happen.

CONFERENCE 📍HERITAGE GLOBE

UNLEASHING THE POWER OF AI

A Paradigm Shift In The Jewelry Industry

A conference on the profound metamorphosis the jewellery industry is experiencing and the boundless possibilities it embraces through arti cial intelligence (AI) technology will take place in the Heritage Globe, accessible through the roots of the sacred tree. Shuttles will wait for you at the root tip to take you to the heritage globe.

EXHIBITION 📍NICEPHORE NIEPCE ISLAND

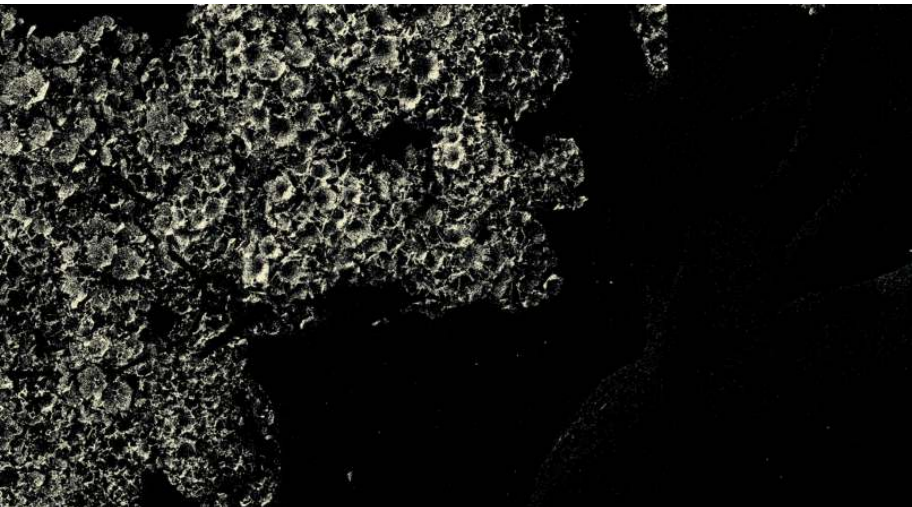

CAPTURING TIME

Bridges between Past & Present

An exhibition of photographic artworks by travellers will be on display for visitors on Nicéphore Niepce Island. The theme is Time Travel, Bridges Between Past & Present. Selected creative travellers will showcase photographs capturing their experience using heliography, a photography technique from the 19th century.

Fibonacci Island, March the 21st, captured by Jules Dragon

Sacred Tree, April the 2nd, captured by Kobayashi Hanako

Ouroboros & Sacred Pearl, January the 1st, captured by Dorothea Viehmann

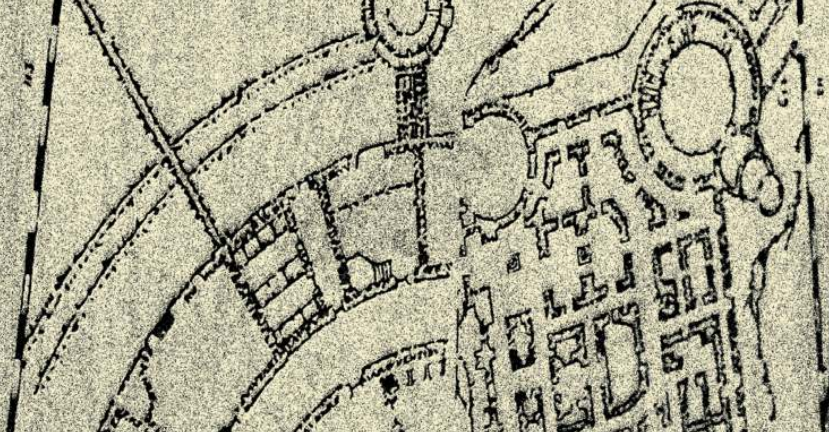

LHC seen from Vessel (1st view), January the 7th, Captured by Galileo Aurea

TRAVEL TIPS 📍ORPHEAN CAVE

MAPS TO THE STARS

Get Lost to Find Your Way...

A well-informed traveller reveals that the mysterious map of the cosmogony that one can get after finding the first 13 Cartier cards would already be in your possession from the start. For the moment, we have only one clue: you have to be prepared to get lost in order to find your way.

CONFERENCE 📍ORPHEAN CAVE

KALEIDOSCOPE

Black Diamonds in Renaissance Paintings

In the Orphean Cave, a conference will be held on diamonds in Renaissance paintings.

Guest Jewelry Art Historian Jade Tavernier reveals us that "when you start polishing the sides of a diamond, and just cutting the tip of the pyramid, then you have the earliest shapes that we would give to diamonds. These specific shapes were absolutely great to show the best of the diamond, at the time, because gemology and cutting techniques were not completely as they are now. The problem is the light would not get through in the best way with these specific shapes. The result would be that the diamonds would appear slightly grey, as you can see in a selection of Renaissance paintings."

Discover more by joining the conference in the Orphean Cave, near the Sea of Trinity.

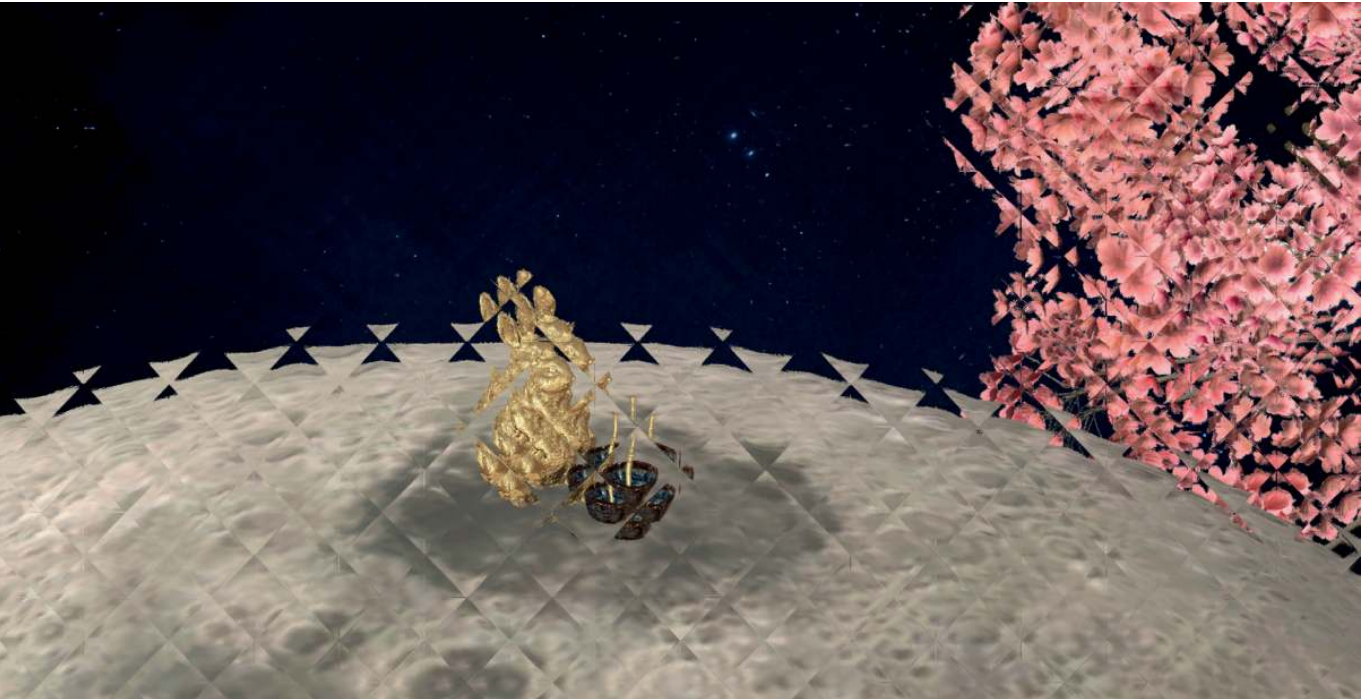

DISCOVERY 📍MOON

MYSTERIOUS CARD 22?

Cosmogony Traveler Might have Spotted the Last Cartier Card...

From the landing shuttle, which rarely passes so close to the moon, a passenger was able to take - through the glass - a rare photograph of the Jade rabbit (玉兔, yùtù). According to Chinese mythology, it prepares the elixir of immortality on the lunar satellite that it inhabits alongside the divinity Chang'e... The passenger said he might have seen in the rabbit's mortar one of the 22 Cartier cards advanced travellers of the Living Heritage Cosmogony try to collect!

Cartier

LIVING HERITAGE COSMOGONY TIMES

You are entering the universe of Living Heritage, rooted in the past, nourished by the present, and spinning towards the future.

From the primordial ocean, eternal flow, emerges a fertile ground to be explored endlessly.

Islands appear on the surface of the water, each corresponding to a historical and present location.

*Each island is infused by the Maison's spirit.
The Maison, in turn, is inspired by that place's unique and exceptional energy.*

Underwater, despite appearances and geographical distances, all islands are interconnected, forming the fertile ground of the Maison.

This space of multiple realities opens itself to your exploration.

